

Creative Arts Academy

A Vibrant Downtown, A World Class Education

The world is but a canvas to our imagination.

Thoreau

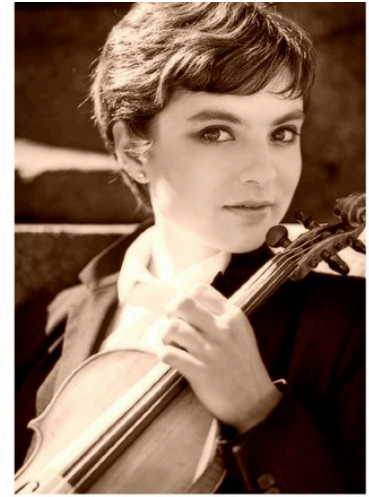

Downtown Davenport can be the home of the Creative Arts Academy. A number of buildings could serve as the hub of the school, or as satellite learning labs.

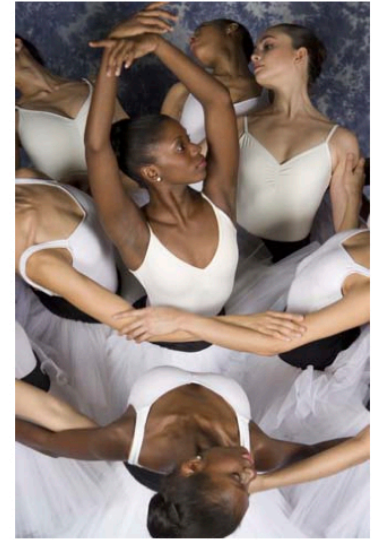

As one of a number of hub school options, the Figge could host academic classes in the morning ...

... with visual artists and writers staying at the Figge for their art and writing classes in the afternoon ...

... while musicians walk across the street to the RME for music classes and rehearsal, and ...

... theater and dance students walk to the Adler Theater for their afternoon classes.

Whether Davenport has facilities available is not the question. The wide range of facilities invites further exploration and discussions with building owners. It is not a question of “can we?”. It is a question of ...

Don't wish for someone else to do later what you can do now.

Wynton Marsalis

... will we? Will we utilize our full capacity to provide an extraordinary education for our most creative young artists?

The only acceptable answer is yes.

*This building is way too quiet.
